Steve Glasson

Australia's greatest lawn bowler, MC & host

Steve Glasson earned the title of Australia's greatest male lawn bowler when he became the first Australian to win the world outdoor singles crown, an event which began in 1966. He has won in excess of 100 events, including 19 Australian championships and the national indoor title on nine occasions.

In 2004, Steve was the World Champion gold medalist. He has represented Australia on more than 300 occasions including twice at the Commonwealth Games.

Glasson's feat in defeating Scotland's Alex Marshall on his home turf in Ayr made him the first Australian male to win gold at a major event in Britain.

In 2009, Steve Glasson was elected to the board of his sport's peak administrative body, Bowls Australia. He is the promotions manager for Bowling Club Insurance Brokers and the Director of the St John's Park Bowling Club. Steve has served as bowls coordinator and part owner of a lawn bowls wholesaler / retailer.

A down to earth sporting hero, with plenty of stories to tell, Steve Glasson has great presence and a remarkable ability to engage with audiences from all walks of life.

He is regularly engaged as the MC or to host corporate events, dinners and lunches through out regional and metro cities of Australia.

Client testimonials

> " Steve was fantastic, our audience were thrilled to have him on board to assist in entertaining and informing our clients. A great day was had by all.
