

Kristina Keneally

Former NSW Premier, Business Woman and Keynote Speaker

The Hon Professor Kristina Keneally is best known as the first woman to hold office as the 42nd Premier of New South Wales. She has also enjoyed a highly successful career in business, and performed senior roles in academia and with not-for-profit organisations.

An articulate keynote speaker, Kristina Keneally draws on her broad experience in business and politics to empower audiences, speaking on a wide variety of topics from leadership to motherhood and work-life balance, sport, politics and religion.

Kristina Keneally enjoyed a long career in politics. She was the Member for Heffron in the New South Wales Parliament between 2003-2012 and served in Cabinet in various roles including; Minister for Disability Services, Minister for Ageing, Minister for Planning, Minister for Infrastructure and Government Spokesperson for World Youth Day. In 2009 she was elected Premier of New South Wales, a position she held until 2011.

Following her time in politics Kristina was appointed to the role of CEO of Basketball Australia, a position she held from 2012-2014.

Kristina is the Director of Gender Inclusion/Adjunct Professor at the Macquarie Graduate School of Management and a regular columnist. She also serves as a Director of Souths Cares, Patron of the Stillbirth Foundation Australia and Ambassador for Opportunity Australia International.

Kristina Keneally holds a Bachelor of Arts (Honours) in Political Science and an MA in Religious Studies, both from the University of Dayton. She is also a Political Commentator and regularly presents To The Point and Credlin Keneally on Sky News.

Kristina Keneally speaks on topics that include:

- Leadership in adverse times
- Women in Leadership
- Work-life balance
- Motherhood
- Religion & Catholicism
- Elite and recreational sport
- Politics
- Public policy
- Change management

- Cracking the glass ceiling

Client Testimonials

Kristina was a delight to deal with. Her presentation was most engaging and very well received. She was effortlessly articulate and delivered key messages around the importance of work/life flexibility, and having a written 'statement of purpose' to refer to as circumstances change throughout your life. Kristina also provided a valuable message to the women in the room – be confident, back yourself and don't be unreasonable in your self-belief... All in all, the event was a great success.

James Cook University

Kristina was FABULOUS and so lovely, I'm such a big fan! She was really well received and our delegates were quite captivated – she truly was a highlight to work with.

Club Managers Association Australia

VIEW SPEAKER'S BIO ONLINE ▶