Paul captivated the audience with his ease of presentation. He spoke with great passion, drawing many stories from his wide breadth of experience as an outstanding ambulance paramedic, expert in his field, selfless hero and unique and humble individual. Throughout the presentation, he made constant reference to the overall theme of our Conference, drawing threads from many angles. His presentation was enhanced through the use of inspirational audiovisual clips of his many rescues as team leader of S.C.A.T. Paul's presentation was a highlight of our inaugural Eastern Region Conference

The presentation was highly regarded and rates as one of the best we have arranged for staff. Staff related very well to the stories told by Paul and felt that he had a real interest in the people he helped or came across in his duties. The lifetime experiences he discussed around focus, commitment, training and follow-through were not lost on our predominantly female audience who have families at home facing the challenges of our society today.
