More about Peter Berner:

Peter Berner started as a stand-up comic in 1988 at the Comedy Store in Sydney and the Harold Park Hotel. Working the comedy circuit both here and overseas, he has appeared in Melbourne, Adelaide and Brisbane comedy festivals as well as in London, New York, New Zealand, Singapore, Borneo, Vietnam, Laos, Malaysia, Indonesia, Fiji, Latvia, Estonia.

Peter has staged regular shows at the Melbourne International Comedy Festival including Lonely Guys and The Big Questions (both with James O'Loughlin), Rant, Disturbed and BernerLand. He has had his material edited out of two Melbourne Comedy Festival TV Galas for being too edgy, which resulted in him being the focus of a MediaWatch segment - an achievement of which he is justifiably proud.

He was writer and host of the twice Logie-nominated BackBerner, The Einstein Factor (ABC TV) and You Have Been Watching (Foxtel). He has made regular appearances on Good News Week, Hey Hey, Kerri Anne, Sunrise, The Footy Show, Paul Murray Live (Foxtel) and The Project. He has also written and hosted the AFI Awards

On radio, Peter co-hosted the popular Triple M breakfast show The Cage and presented his own show The Peter Berner Experiment. In 2012 he took on a key role on air with Sydney's 2UE. Over the years he has turned up on Thank God it's Fridays on ABC 702 with Richard Glover.

Peter is also an accomplished artist, having mounted several successful solo shows in galleries in Sydney and Melbourne. He conceived and presented the documentary Peter Berner's Loaded Brush, about his entry into the prestigious Archibald Prize. A published cartoonist, his work includes The Bulletin, Kookaburra, TNT (London) and B&T. He illustrated four volumes of The Lighter Side of the News and wrote The Book of He, which was released in 2015.
