

Jodi Lee

Journalist, MC, Communication & Media Trainer

Jodi Lee is a well-known television journalist and event $\ensuremath{\mathsf{MC}}.$

For more than a decade she has had a front row seat to history, delivering the news as it happens to hundreds of thousands of Australians. Jodi appears nightly on the evening bulletin and has interviewed everyone from sitting Prime Ministers to Olympic athletes and Hollywood celebrities.

When Jodi isn't gracing television screens, she is hosting events across the country. As an MC Jodi is adaptable, energetic, relatable and engaging. She effortlessly commands live audiences, interviewing famous faces and facilitating panel discussions for sporting, corporate and government clients.

Jodi also uses her experience and expertise to help executives present with confidence and calm their own nerves during high-stakes interviews, pitches and presentations. As a Communication Coach and Media Trainer she works with clients one-on-one and in small groups, to ensure they nail their own "on-air" moment. She has worked with the country's largest financial services firms, not for profit organisations and individual power brokers.
