

Bastien Treptel

Co-founder of CTRL Group

Bastien Treptel is a public figure, speaker, educator and futurist. Bastien has an incredible background on the good and bad of cyber security. At the age of 14 Bastien was given his first computer, by the age of 16, the police came knocking. Bastien had used his hacking skills to get into one of the big four banks and access credit cards. It was his love of pizza that led to the police tracking him down and ultimately reforming his ways.

Years later, Bastien founded CTRL Group to combat cybercrime and in November 2021 sold the company for millions.
