

Nick Maxwell

Former AFL Player, Leadership & Communications Speaker

Nick Maxwell is the epitome of hard work, persistence and 'team'. After years of knock backs, he became one of the AFL's greatest success stories, going from the rookie list to an AFL Premiership Captain, leading the Collingwood Football Club to a drought breaking flag in 2010.

Nick is recognised for his excellent leadership capabilities, becoming a successful Leadership coach with the Melbourne Storm, GWS Giants and an advisor to Leaders in business, presenting to and working with companies like Telstra, Barry Plant Real Estate, PWC, BHP, Holden and the Melbourne Stars. He also completed his MBA, focussing on Sports Administration.

In November 2017, Maxwell returned to Collingwood where he is General Manager of Football Operations, also responsible for Leadership and Culture across the AFL, AFLW, Netball and administration.

After 5 years he departed the Pies to take the role as CEO of Eclat, a members-only restaurant, café, dining room and event space with hospitality infused private offices.
