More about Tania Zaetta:

Tania's career kicked off in Australia and then internationally, as the 'Daredevil' host, with Mike Whitney, on the Seven Network's prime time hit adventure series Who Dares Wins.

The show aired in over 80 countries, where hundreds of millions of viewers watched her face her biggest fears to compete in a series of life threatening dares and stunts. New versions of the original hit action show, Who Dares Wins India Specials and Extreme Dhamaka were filmed in India with Tania and Mike, where the show attracted more than 50 million viewers each week.

A career highlight for Tania was landing the role of Kendra (the tri-athlete and one of six leading roles) in the world's most watched TV series Baywatch.

Relocating to India, Tania broke into Bollywood, quickly achieving leading roles in four consecutive hit films, which earned her the title 'the first foreigner to conquer Bollywood'.

For her role in the hit film Salaam Namaste she was presented with an Indian award for 'Best Debut Performance'. With viewers reaching over two billion worldwide; this blockbuster film became the most popular and highest grossing Bollywood Film ever shown in Australia and is still aired continuously on SBS.

Impressed with Tania's achievements Granada Sky Broadcasting UK filmed a documentary highlighting the success of her career around the world titled Tania Zaetta Exposed.

SKY1 UK then relocated Tania back to the UK to host her own prime time action show Mission Implausible, where she performed stunts and challenges, competing against English Race car driver Jason Plato. The show been repeatedly aired in the UK on SKY2 and throughout Europe, Asia and the Middle East on the Discovery Chanel.

Tania appeared in season three of Australia's Dancing with the Stars, and in 2012 the second season of Celebrity Apprentice, alongside her former Baywatch Star David Hasselhoff.

In 2012 she was also chosen to host/interview Kim Kardashian in her only public appearances before thousands of screaming fans chatting about health, beauty and fitness, and in 2013, Tania was asked back to host and interview 'live' on stage' The Graduate's star and fashion icon, Jerry Hall.
