

Shane Webcke

Former Brisbane Bronco, MC and Keynote Speaker

Since retiring from a career in rugby league, Shane Webcke now spends time now as a farmer, family man, businessman, author, news presenter, safety ambassador, guest speaker and host.

During Shane's football career, he represented Queensland on twenty four occasions and represented Australia in twenty six tests. In that time, he only ever played for the Brisbane Broncos for some twelve years and was privileged to be named Daly M Prop of the Year three times.

Shane has taken what he learned about commitment and work ethic from the farm as a young fella to the football field as a player and back to farming in regional Queensland. He now balances family life with his wife and three children with his other job in Brisbane, behind the news desk at Seven.

In 1994, when Shane was just 18 years old, his father was killed in a Queensland workplace incident. He had only just started his football career under the guidance of Wayne Bennett when he received the news that his world had changed forever. This led him to the role as a safety ambassador and he shares the story of his father in the hope it will motivate others to put safety first, always.

In 2006, Shane released his autobiography 'Warhorse' and since then has shared his knowledge, passion and experience with many audiences across Queensland and Australia as a keynote speaker, guest speaker, MC, panelist and host.

Shane Webcke talks about:

- Safety
- Motivation

Client testimonials

“ The popularity of Shane Webcke, and the respect with which he is held, was well and truly illustrated by a record attendance of 91 at the April Full Time Club gathering of the Sunshine Coast Committee.

- Men Of League

“ Shane was perfectly matched to our team from both a personal loss discussion and his sporting career.

- Cargill Australia Ltd

“ Since Shane Webcke became an official ambassador for the LGAQ in 2011 he has visited local councils all over Queensland, from major regional centres to small indigenous communities. Shane’s love and respect for regional Queensland, his understanding of the business of local government and his ability to immediately put everyone at ease have combined to ensure he delivers a invaluable service for the LGAQ.
