

Scott Draper

Sports and Business Leader, Performance Consultant and Coach

An expert in the science and application of sustained high performance across individual, team and organisational domains. Scott Draper has a rare blend of lived experience and professional rigour, who brings 25 years in elite performance – first as a professional athlete in two sports, then as a high-performance coach, and now as a leadership and performance specialist.

Scott has seen what drives performance – and knows what derails it. His move from athlete and coach to leading national sporting pathways sparked a deeper fascination with leadership, culture, and system-level change. This led him to complete an MBA in Leadership, Strategy and Innovation with Dux honours, and to expand his impact beyond sport into the corporate, government and private sectors.

As Co-Founder and Director of North and the Sustained High-Performance Program, Scott helps individuals, teams and organisations cut through the noise and do the work that matters – blending deep empathy with bold challenge. He is known for creating environments where people feel energised, safe, and stretched to grow.

What gets him out of bed is helping people shift from knowing to doing, instilling belief and shaping what's possible.

Scott Draper Talks About

- Leadership
- Culture Change
- High Performing Teams
- Organisational Resilience and Wellbeing

Client testimonials

What makes Scott so special is that he is equally able to attend to the emotional and psychological human needs in the quest for extraordinary personal and organisational outcomes. As a facilitator he can read individuals and group dynamics, challenge mindsets, strengthen relationships, whilst maintaining a focus on the outcomes that will drive success.

Lastly, Scott has wonderful sense of humour and fun that ensures any experience of working with him is both impressive and deeply enjoyable!

- Melbourne Business School
- ** Everything Scotty takes on in life is executed with purpose, passion and precision ... and the results are predictably outstanding!
- Advice First
- "The audience a diverse group of successful entrepreneurs, he engaged them with a tale of love, heart-ache, professionalism, and what is required to deliver elite performance, whatever the context.
- Truly Deeply

VIEW SPEAKER'S BIO ONLINE 2

×