

Nathy Gaffney

Executive performance coach, speaker & MC

Nathy Gaffney is no stranger to corporate audiences – prior to establishing her corporate training business Pitch Perfect Training several years ago, Nathy was one of Australia’s busiest and most successful corporate entertainers. Now Nathy combines 20 years as a professional actor, singer and impersonator with science and psychology in her role as an executive performance coach, speaker and MC.

In her compelling, dynamic and engaging presentations, Nathy talks about the powerful impact of first impressions, charisma and our innate desire for human connection. She reveals how these very human qualities are the new drivers in the race for business success.

Her resilience and strength, passion and humour are an engaging and compelling combination and her keynotes and presentations are always both entertaining and enlightening. As an MC, Nathy is warm, witty, flexible and unfailingly professional.

Nathy is also a regular on the Nine Network’s Mornings program where she is called on to commentate on topics such as workplace etiquette and culture, vocal image, and many more subjects related to corporate and contemporary behaviour and performance.

With so many years as a professional performer – Nathy has wowed audiences for over 15 years with her humour and talent with her many performances including the absolutely fabulous Patsy & Edina, Kath & Kim, The Duelling Opera Divas, Dolly Parton, Pauline Hanson, Le Bond Femmes, and the stunning Super Supremes – she is totally comfortable up on stage and in front of audiences of any size, demographic or industry.

“ I first worked with Nathy when she was still performing her many diverse character roles for corporate events. Her flair for comedy and her stage presence, combined with her professionalism has meant that when I need someone on board who really understands the needs of a corporate client (and the event producer) - she is always front of mind. She makes an absolutely superb MC - honing her years on stage in character - with a polished flair that is always appropriate to her audience. She always nails the brief and fully contributes to the success of any event she is involved with.

“ Nathy recently worked on our Marcs and David Lawrence team building and season release days for our national retail managers. Over the 2 day event - Nathy not only MC'd, but also provided a brilliant presentation on the Power of Personal Impact. The human connection is the frontline of retail's battle to stay relevant and profitable, and Nathy certainly walked the talk. She's a confident, authoritative presenter - with lashings of warmth and humour. Highly relateable - the teams loved her.
